

New Drinks

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

tion Bureau, Washington, D. C.

Washington, July 10.—Now that liquor is no more and the head of him who used it is cleared, for straight thinking, some really worthwhile substitutes are being proposed.
Police are removing the trimmings and facing the one fact of alcohol—stimulation. It is stimulation that is wanted. They are abandoning the idea of getting it startle, and unlawfully. Is there not a legitimate stimulant to take its place—music, for instance?

The recent funeral of John was attended by a large number of kindly souls who just bubbled up with consoling suggestions. You must have noticed them. "My dear man," you could hear them gently explaining to some sad and embittered follower of the deceased, "you must not let this loss blight your life."

See Good in Empty Bottle.

People of this peculiar, Polly Anna can never be suppressed. They are upon seeing good in everything, even an empty bottle. You simply cannot make them see any difference between cocktails and candy. They rise triumphant over the worst stubborn cynicism and go right on assuring you that you must bow to the will of the prohibitionists; that in time you will forget your grief in the joys of chocolate or concert music.

It is complained that in the immediate past when the swinging door was still a conspicuous feature of our large cities, our concert halls were sadly devoid of male listeners. While most of the musicians were men, their audiences were almost completely women. Musicians themselves will tell you that they would have to give up their art for some grocery stores or something if it were not for the women of the nation. Obviously, the majority of American men share the view of the distinguished novelist who, being asked to write a play about the thought of music, said, "Oh, I see no harm in it."

Music Stimulates.

But now the mourners of the late John are requested to take the question of music as a solace under advice. Why, they are asked, have women been such ardent devotees of music? Is it not because they discovered in it the same stimulating element that men find in alcohol? It is admitted that there are cases which seem to point to this conclusion. For example, the famous singer, Melba, was so overcome with grief after the first time she heard Beethoven's Fifth Symphony that she swooned, and had to be carried out of the hall. Then there was the case of Berlioz, who sawed that he became absolutely intoxicated upon hearing certain pieces of music.

In describing his symptoms of intoxication, he wrote, "My vital forces seem at first to be doubled, I feel a delicious pleasure in which reason has no part; my arteries pulsate violently." Then come the various symptoms of physical conditions of the muscles trembling in all the limbs, a total numbness in the feet and hands, paralysis of the optic and auditory nerves—vertigo—almost swooning."

Has No After Effects.

It is suggested that music as a means of intoxication has no after effects over alcohol in that it produces no depressing after effects. On the other hand, the victim is rejuvenated and refreshed. Plato wisely asserted that music cleanses the soul and revitalizes the body. Since Plato's time the psychological effect of music has been carefully studied, and as a result music is now being introduced as a therapeutic measure in a great number of hospitals. In the Japanese-Russian war the beneficial effect of music on wounded soldiers was noticed and noted, while in the European war it was a common occurrence to have wounded men ask for music before drink or medical help.

Again, there are those who assert that the best substitute for booze is books. While no degree of physical intoxication is claimed for them, it is well known that in books men have always found that relief from the drum of life, which is the chief of alcohol and the chief of drugs.

Some Read Books.

"After drink because they are bored, because they lack excitement," declares one authority, "and yet locked up in books there is more stimulant, more excitement than in many bottles of whiskey." A Chicago store has attention to the fact that a store in its city regularly sells 2,500 pounds of peanuts every Saturday, and not 25 pounds a week during the week. This does not prove it might be claimed, that peanuts offer an even better substitute for alcohol than books, but that Americans are neglecting the use of their own brains.
See de la Maupassant or Ambrose Bierce or Compton Mackenzie or Algren Blackwood.

An even deadlier substitute for alcohol than either of these urged above is candy. The candy store proprietors themselves are keeping discreetly silent on the subject, but there are plenty of others who have experience in climbing off the water wagon assert that candy is the only hope of the faithful when the last descendant of John Bar-leycorn has been dragged from the cellar and destroyed. This statement is also upheld by scientists, who have studied the effect of various foods on the human system, and who point out that a piece of candy in the process of digestion becomes alcohol, in which form it is distributed throughout the system. Eat a few chocolate drops in an icy winter day, and you get almost away from home by candy and capped the flask in your inside pocket.
But candy in large quantities is capable of causing almost as much damage as alcohol itself, according to our wise physicians, and if you are faced by another danger—the bon-bon drunk.

Bon Bon Drunk Terrors.

Our jails will be filled with candidats, a new class of criminals, informed for the suppression of candy manufacture, and the movie scenario writers can go right on writing the same drunken scenarios of heroines swooning away from home by candy and of young men who take their first chocolate drop and thereafter rapidly to wreck and ruin. Already are suggestions for dramatizing the candy business appearing in the papers. In these, scene after scene shows a little troupe, consisting of a sad little woman and her children, who sit singing about the kitchen table, where the evening meal is growing cold. The mother rises and looks mournfully out of the window, shaking her head. "The car father is eating again," she sobs.
Although the night is cold and win-dormy, the room can be seen by the way everything in the room is being blown

DIRIGIBLE FLIES BACK TO SCOTLAND

BRITISH BALLOON SAILED FROM MINEOLA LAST NIGHT.

BROADWAY SAW
NIGHT AIRSHIP

Flyer Circled Over New York Before Putting to Sea; All is Well, is Report.

Halifax, N. S., July 10.—A message from the R-34, received at the naval station here at 11:12 a. m., gave the position of the dirigible as at a point 215 miles due south of here.

Washington, July 10.—A later message placed the R-34, 450 miles east and slightly north of New York at 10:15 a. m., "making good 58 knots."

Hopped Off Last Night
New York, July 10.—The British dirigible R-34 today is well on her way toward home, a stay in America of 30 hours, following the first non-stop trans-Atlantic flight of a lighter-than-air ship. Taking the air at 11:35 o'clock last night, at Roosevelt field, Mineola, Long Island, the big dirigible, passed over New York city, circled over the Times Building tower at 12:45, remaining for five minutes before heading south over lower Manhattan and disappearing in an easterly direction at 1:16 a.
m. For more than an hour naval communication officials went through reports of weather conditions at sea to the R-34 and the wireless stations at the Mineola flying fields were in communication with her until 4 a. m. when the R-34 radio operator requested that further weather reports be sent from the Ear Harbor Maine radio station.

Flies Over Broadway
Announcement by Maj. G. H. Scott, commander of the R-34, of his intention to sail over the city was made in theaters and restaurants with the result that thousands of persons crowded in Broadway for a glimpse of the dirigible as she passed through the shadows of light shot skyward from scores of search lights. She flew quite low over Broadway, not being much over 300 feet in the air and proceeding at a low speed.

"Well out to sea" was the last message from the R-34 picked up by the police headquarters at 2:15 a. m., almost an hour after Major Scott had fulfilled his promise to pilot his ship over New York.

The decision to make the start was reached early last evening when Major Scott received a warning from the United States weather bureau that the strong southwest winds might continue for another day and endanger the big bag on the exposed plain of Mineola.

The R-34 was "going well at a speed of 40 knots an hour" according to three wireless messages received today by the naval communication officers. One of the messages flashed at 2:45 a. m. read, "everything o. k.
Bound for England."

A second message received at 3 a. m. read, "Speed 40 knots. Going well, everything o. k."

The third message caught at 3:45 a. m. read, "The dirigible was making such rapid progress that wireless signals sent her had become unreadable.
This message read, "Signs unreadable due to rapid increase of distance and speed and atmospheric statics."

WILSON WILL KEEP EYES ON FOE

Washington, July 10.—President Wilson, conferring with newspaper correspondents, indicated that he was extremely gratified that the treaty of peace had been ratified so promptly by the German national assembly.

The president also indicated that he felt trade relations between Germany and the associated nations should be resumed at the earliest moment possible, for without trade Germany could not meet the reparations demands of her. It was pointed out that there were several million veteran soldiers in Germany and munitions sufficient for them to operate.

Other members with an eye to thrift, did not fail to advertise.
One said his firm originated a well known cloth, another that he brought the first automobiles into this country from Europe, and another that he is president of a press clipping bureau. One recited his collegiate achievements and admits getting into congress after his "characteristic determination" carried him through a campaign in a popular automobile. One member raised on a dairy farm, another lives "on a gravel road," and another "entered public schools at an early age."

The shortest biography is that of Representative James O'Connor of Louisiana. He merely announced his names. Others take a half page or more to unburden themselves as each was permitted to write what he pleased.

Advices Credit Extension Mr. Wilson feels that the United States must play a generous part in the reconstruction of Europe, but he believes this should be accomplished by establishing some sound basis of credit rather than by direct government aid. Mr. Wilson's purpose is to present the peace treaty and the agreement with France separately with disclosure today at a conference with press representatives. It was indicated that his time thus far has been devoted entirely to preparing his address on the treaty with Germany and that opportunity had been lacking to complete a similar explanation of the proposed pact with France.

Mr. Wilson let it be known to the correspondents that the treaty with France was designed for the protection of France until such time as this special guarantee would no longer be needed because of the protection to be afforded all nations by the league of nations.

Mr. Wilson has the impression that the French people would be cut to the heart if the United States should fail to approve the special treaty. He does not believe there would be any difficulty in recognizing such an act of aggression by Germany as would necessitate American aid to France under the pact.

One Says He Is 'An Accident,' Many Lawyers

Washington, July 10.—An epilome of "marking virtues, occurrences, aspirations, and deeds is found in congress. Within the pages of the congressional directory—that of the 66th congress was issued today—senators and representatives officially record their own biographies.

Most of the law-makers are lawyers, but among the membership are an iron moulder, banker, stock raiser, tree surgeon, physician, cheese manufacturer, glass blower, baggage master and "a business man and a political accident."

Although autobiographies deal with the author's past, a surprising feature was that many members did not have room to say about their ancestry. Several, however, trace their lineage back to members of the continental congress and one announced he is a "direct descendant of the father of Hannah Dustin, of colonial and Indian fame." Another member said he is "best known as a planter and a politician."

FOE HURRIED UP SIGNING TREATY

Weimar, July 10.—The German national assembly plainly does not yesterday that it wanted to complete the unpleasant task of ratifying the treaty quickly and without obscuring the measure in any way with qualifying resolutions.

At the opening of the session the conservatives introduced a resolution which would make ratification dependent upon the judgement of recognized authorities in international law as to whether the proposed international court could institute trial and could, with retroactive jurisdiction and authority impose penalties which have not heretofore been prescribed in international law. The resolution was aimed at the enforcement of articles 227 to 230, inclusive, of the peace treaty (providing for the trial of the former emperor and other Germans accused of causing the war or of violations of the rules of war).

It also provided for the establishment of a new court to pass on the question of responsibility for the conflict.

Resolution is Banned.
The bill ratifying the treaty passed the first reading and then a recess was taken. After 15 minutes the assembly reopened and Dr. Schiffer, national liberal leader, stated the resolution would only serve to confuse the situation. A clerical spokesman said the time for reservations was passed. The conservative defended the resolution but it was beaten.

The treaty bill was then taken up and quickly passed by a vote of 230 readings with the opposition coming from democrats, national liberals, and conservatives. Dr. Bernhard Dernburg, former minister of finance, Friedrich Von Payer, former imperial vice chancellor and a few other democrats, voted for ratification.

Ebert Signs Bill.
Berlin, Wednesday, July 3.—President Ebert signed the bill ratifying the peace treaty at 8 o'clock tonight, according to the Vorwarts and the document has been dispatched to Versailles.

Paris Notified of Signing.
Versailles, July 10.—Official notification of the ratification of the treaty by the German national assembly was given the peace conference this morning.

The notification was presented by Baron Kurt Von Klenau, chief of the German peace mission here. Colonel Henry, the French liaison officer at Versailles, was the recipient.

UNION OF FREE NATIONS

INDISPENSABLE, URGES

PRESIDENT IN MESSAGE

SENATE HEARS EXECUTIVE'S OPINIONS ON PEACE SOCIETY; ADOPTION OF COV-ENANT GAVE PARIS CONFEREES SURETY THAT THEIR WORK WOULD BE PERMANENT,
HE SAYS.

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, July 10.—President Wilson in presenting the peace treaty with Germany to the senate today, declared that "a league of free nations had become a practical necessity" to which the framers of the treaty felt obliged to turn "as an indispensable instrumentality for the maintenance of the new order it has been their purpose to set up in the world."

The "most skeptical" of the peace conferees at Paris, the president said, had turned more and more to the league as discussion progressed in seeking solution of the problems that arose in framing the terms of the treaty itself.

"The fact that the covenant of the league was the first substantative part of the treaty," he worked out and agreed upon," the president said, "while all else was in solution, helped to make the formulation of the rest easier."

Mr. Wilson said the agreement on the covenant had given the conferees a feeling that their work was to be permanent and that the most practical among them "were at last the most ready to refer to the league of nations the superintendence of all interests which did not admit of immediate determination, of all administrative problems which were to require a continuing oversight."

"What had seemed a counsel of perfection," said the president, "had come to seem a plain council of necessity. The league of nations was the practical statesman's hope of success in many of the most difficult things he was attempting."

President Hoover entered the senate chamber, escorted by a committee of senators, the crowded galleries rose and cheered for a minute in disregard of the senate rules. The president, moving to the vice president's seat, spoke briefly with Vice President Marshall as the cheering
yells.

President Wilson is understood to take the position that a two-thirds majority will be required to adopt any senate reservations in ratifying the peace treaty. The tiny number of opponents in the senate has been that only a simple majority would be required.

Under a resolution adopted today by the House, President Wilson would be asked to send to the senate a copy of a letter declared to have been written by General Tasker H.
Bliss on behalf of himself, Secretary of War, and the War Department, against the decision of the peace conference regarding Shantung. The resolution which went to the foreign relations committee without debate also would ask for information as to any attempt on the part of the Japanese delegates to the conference to "intimidate" the Chinese delegates.

See page 2 for full text of President Wilson's message, which was delivered in the senate today.

State Board of Health Worker Speaks Here

As a part of the education campaign put on by the state board of health, the hold secretary, Miss Martha B. Riley, was in the city yesterday and gave a short talk before the convention of county school officials and teachers at the meeting of the high school. Miss Riley has just come from the Whitewater normal school and is going to Monroe and then to Milwaukee.

Miss Riley expects to come to Janesville for a week, probably in September, when she will present her work before the women's clubs, to parent teachers' organizations, and in the schools.

One item of interest to Janesville women is that the state board is planning to send a social worker for at least a year's time, to work in connection with the present city nurse and also with the public dispensary.

Serjt. Harris A. Hallenbeck, who formerly lived in this city, and who was discharged from Company M, 128th regiment last April, was awarded the Croix de Guerre, June 26, for carrying food to the trenches under fire.

Sergeant Hallenbeck enlisted the day the United States entered the war, April 7, 1917, in this city. Mention for the Croix de Guerre was made by General Pelain, commander-in-chief of the French armies of the east.

London, July 10.—Securities valued at $2,000,000 belonging to former King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, which was made after proceedings before a Mount Clemens, Mich., July 10.— Henry Ford and his son, Edsel, were both in court this morning ready to testify in the older Ford's $1,000,000 libel suit against the Chicago Daily Tribune. Ernst Liebold, private sec-

The first witness was Cole Robert McCormick, who was under cross-ex-court adjourned yesterday.

Burnham, Arthur Granger, Stanley Tallman, and Frank Blodgett.

About 25 women were present, singing in the afternoon, and being entertained with a short program on their arrival. A devotional exercise, readings by Miss Erma Shoemaker, and a marriage with liturgical ceremony, helped to make a delightful afternoon. A picnic supper with birthday cake for those whose birthdays happened to fall during the past two months, was served at 6 o'clock. There were a number of guests present besides the class members. Mrs. S. Kelly was chairman of the picnic arrangements. Mrs. John Cunningham is teacher of the class and Miss Susie Mayhew is president. The last meeting was held with Mrs. J. B. Sprackling.

RIFLE TEAMS IN INTER ALLIED MEET WILL COMPETE FOR PERSHING TROPHY

The Pershing trophy.

Army rifle teams entered in the matches at the big inter-allied games now on at Joinville, France, will shoot for the handsome Pershing trophy. The trophy is of bronze and depicts an American doughboy "wading in" with his automatic. In his other hand he carries the deadly trench knife, the weapon called into play as a last resort at close quarters. The allied meet, staged in a mammoth wooden arena, named Pershing stadium, in honor of the commander of the U. S. forces in the war, has proved a great success. It is the first big track and field meet held since the war, and the biggest one staged since the Olympic games in 1912.

SENATE STANDS BY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, July 10.—The senate, by unanimous vote has stood by its original soldier bonus bill to raise $15,000,000 by direct taxes and surplus on incomes to pay bonuses to soldiers. The assembly will reconvene in Madison Tuesday to take up the proposition and there is now every indication that the assembly may concur in the assembly bill. The senate defeated the assembly bill for the referendum to the people August 13.

Senator Bird offered an amendment to the old senate amendment bill providing for a referendum to the people. The Bird amendment was defeated 20 to 6.

Senator Roethke offered a substitute bill providing that two-thirds of the amount raised should come from income tax and one-third by a general tax. The Roethke amendment was defeated 20 to 6.

The vote was then taken on the original senate bill which resulted in a unanimous vote for the measure. If the assembly concurs in the senate bill it means that soldiers from Wisconsin will be paid $19 a month for the time they were in the service with a

ASSUMPTION.

The senate has passed the Wilson soldiers' bonus bill providing for a direct tax of $15,000,000 with the refunding string unattached. It killed the Nolan measure which gave the people of the state an opportunity to vote on the proposition at a special election. The bill is again up to the lower house of the legislature.

There is no objection to the passage of legislation which will give soldiers, sailors, marines and nurses of the state of Wisconsin a bonus. The plan of Assemblyman Nolan was to give the people a chance to express their appreciation. There is no doubt in the minds of any one that the citizens of Wisconsin would overwhelmingly vote for the distribution of a bonus and the means for providing the funds.

Senator Conant in discussing the measure in the upper house characterized the suggested referendum as "an insult," and added that should the people vote down the bonus, it would be a stain on the reputation of the state that could never be wiped out.

It would appear that Senator Conant's remarks are an insult to the people of Wisconsin. Since when has it become the duty of the legislators to guard the citizens' patriotism by enacting legislation to fear they will not express their sentiment in the right way? Senator Conant takes a great deal upon himself in assuming that such an important matter could not be trusted to the voters of this great commonwealth.

Wisconsin's war record shows that she is among the leaders in war activities; that she has given freely of her men and her resources for the great cause in the glorious record our state has made in France and to have any member of the state legislature take the floor and publicly announce that he fears the people of this state will not vote right on a proposition to give our brave soldiers their just due, is most unbecoming and should not be allowed to pass unnoticed.

The people of the state are competent to think as well as those who have taken their seats in the legislature by virtue of the people's suffrage.
The taxpayers have a right to express their opinions in the matter of providing a bonus and it is due them that they be allowed to show the men and women who so valiantly protected them on the battlefields, that they stand squarely back of them until they are again firmly entrenched in civil life.

DEMOCRATIC EXTRAVAGANCE.
The workings of the war department are wonderful examples of inefficiency, which, if only studied by the average American citizen, who has to earn his living by the sweat of his brow, should prove an incentive for studying the lessons of thrift.

At a recent hearing of the house committee investigating war expenditures, testimony was given showing that the government bought thousands of horses at $200 a head. It was also testified that these horses are being sold for $50 a head. It is again stated that $10,000,000 has been appropriated for the purchase of horses for the army. Nice little example in thrift!

This appears to be typical of the methods used by the war department.
Little consideration has been shown for the people's money. Here is another illustration which should serve to make Mr. Average Citizen dependably into the problems of making a dollar go as far as he can, while he has it. C. W. Hare, director of sales, made the statement before the committee that Mr. Hoover declined to purchase any of the enormous supply of army food for distribution. He said, although he could have had it at 33 cents a pound. He purchased bacon from the Italian government at 33 cents per pound. He wanted a better grade for suffering Europe.

We agree with Mr. Hoover that the need in Europe should have good food. We would not countenance any attempt to supply poor or bad food, but there are many men and women in the United States who have bought Liberty bonds and subscribed to funds for all kinds of war activities who have to buy 25-cent bacon and are glad to get it. They have to earn the money to pay for it, too. If the bacon was good enough for American soldiers, it surely was good enough for starving Europe. If it was not good enough for American soldiers, we would like to have the war department explain why it was supplied to them.

These are two glaring illustrations of democratic extravagance, inefficiency and stupidity. Others have been mentioned from time to time and it is safe to predict that more will be forthcoming as the investigation proceeds.

MILLIONS NEED TRAINING.
That seven million of the 10,000,000 industrial workers in this country are handicapped by lack of adequate opportunities for self-improvement is the statement of the director of the department of labor, based on investigations made in a large number of typical manufacturing plants and on personal interviews with manufacturers, shop superintendents and foremen.

Modern industry has developed many important lines of manufacture of such limited skill that no apprenticeships have been instituted for them.
In the skilled lines apprenticeships are haphazardly conducted. In most lines of production where there is no apprenticeship adequate training is wholly lacking and so employers and employees are at a great disad-vantage.

It is to overcome this needless burden on American production that training courses in plants are advocated by the training service. To back up its claim that this method fitting men for their jobs is profitable, the service exhibits a number of charts showing the transformation wrought in workers who were sent through training departments. These show that on the average the new employe learns his new work in about half the time formerly required and that old employees of mediocre skill, or less, can be "upgraded" to equal some of the best. Others are fitted for promotion by training.

Not only is the average production raised by the introduction of training, but labor turnover is reduced and spillage is much less. The factories having training departments find that in most cases they are self-supporting.

All during the war and after the armistice was signed the various administrative offices have endeavored to protect everyone but the man who had to reach into his pocket for the money to foot the bills. Last winter canned goods were kept off the market by the war department so the poor canners would not lose anything.
Still the people had to pay exorbitant prices for these products which were so plentiful.

Postmaster General Burleson's inclination to resign has not brought to light any signs of mourning on the part of anyone, including administration leaders or President Wilson.
Burleson as a cabinet officer just before the 1920 campaign would prove a drag on aspiring candidates.

Field Marshal Haig declares that it was the British that won the war.
It would seem that Marshal Haig is not aware that several of our soldiers took a small part in the war when they checked the German horde as it plunged toward Paris and finally drove them back into Rhineland.

It should not be necessary to enact a law to keep the president in the United States. An executive who has the welfare of the nation at heart and who uses his head in times of emergency would not leave this country if it would be detrimental to the nation's interest.

Q. Is the presence of bacteria in food an indication of a lack of cleanliness or freshness? - B. L. C.

A. No. Bacteria are found almost everywhere. They are found in air, water, soil, in most foods, and flourish in the mouth, stomach and intestines of man. The acidity of buttermilk, the rancidity of butter, the rancidity of stale bread, are due to the presence of bacteria. In many cases they are an aid to digestion.

Q. What are the longest railroad tunnels in the world? - D. M. F.

A. The longest tunnel in the world is the Gotthard tunnel of Switzerland and Italy are the longest railroad tunnels in the world. The Simplon is 12 miles long, 16 feet five inches wide and 8 feet high. The St. Gotthard tunnel is nine miles long, 26 feet wide and 21 feet high.

Q. Where is the lowest point in the United States? - M. J. E.

A. The lowest point in the United States is located in Death valley, Cal. which is 278 feet above sea level.

Q. At what depth is the water of the ocean? - K. J.

A. The water in the ocean gets gradually colder. The Geodetic Survey tells us, until a depth of about four miles is reached, where the temperature is 35 degrees. Beyond this depth it gets warmer again because of the effect upon it of the interior heat of the earth.

Q. What are the official flowers of the states? - J. T.

Alabama, Golden Rod; Arizona, Sa-huaro; Arkansas, Apple Blossom; Cal-

Says Wilson Used
N. P. Principles

[By Associated Press]
Jackson, Minn., July 10.—Cross examination of Congressman J. M. Baer of North Dakota by the state, was continued this morning at the conspiracy trial of A. C. Townley and Joseph Gilbert, Non-Partisan league leaders.

Baer's statement of principles, contained in the Non-Partisan league's war program was the largest of the state.

The congressman who was elected on the platform, insisted that the statements not only were loyal, but that some of them later were incorporated by President Wilson in his 14 points and that, in Baer's opinion, they aided in bringing the war to a successful conclusion.

ONE OF THE most fascinating places of the nearest is the Rock City, Petra, in Palestine. In the days of Egyptian and Roman grandeur, Petra was great city and an inviolable stronghold. Caravans from all parts of the east met here for trade, for the Rock City, protected by its mountains and narrow, well-guarded entrance.

One of the few moving places safe from attacks of bandits and thieves.
Petra became a veritable treasure house and the great metropolis of the land of Edom.

The avenue approach to the old valley stronghold was, and still is, along the bed of a stream running for two miles through a narrow, winding defile in the cliffs. Out of this narrow chance, way you come suddenly upon Petra, and first of all upon Pharaoh's treasury. This building, standing guard at the gateway of the city, is taken as significant of Petra's financial standing in the ancient world. It is an imposing building, like a two-storied Greek temple, with columns, rooms and decorations all cut out of the wall of sandstone.

This sandstone which lines the valley and from which the city was carved contains veins of rich purple and crimson and, to a lesser degree, all of the other colors of the rainbow.
Petra's treasury, as the building seems almost barbaric, cut as it is out of stone streaked with yellow, rose, violet, and white.

All over the ruined city, too, there stand out sharp and tall and tall pleas cut from stone veined in such gorgeous colorings as are seen in our Rocky Mountain canyons. All the walls of the valley and the lanes and streets in the rock are lined with the still distinguishable structures of the only city cut from the solid stone.

A LITTLE SLICE OF LIFE.

I'm going to let you folks in on the greatest scheme That was ever invented.
It's for the use of those Who are usually on the lending end of financial operations.

I tried it out last night.
On an old friend of mine, lined with the still workable beautifully.
I saw him coming on rubber heels And he had that $10 look.

I knew what he was going to ask And he pulled it out for instance Not a difficult thing to do In these piping times.

And before he opened his mouth I said, sorrowfully:
"I want you to lend me ten.
I'm flatter than a street car wheel, My rent is due and everything.
Can you let me have ten, Bill?"

He gave me the question look And said, sarcastically:
"If I had ten bucks I wouldn't Speak to you on the street."
And he faded away—just sort of dropped out of the place.

The secret is this:
When you see 'em coming, Hit 'em first.

We will take back every mean thing we ever said about the Congressional Record. We used to think it was a dull, dead publication, but it turns out to be unusually bright and snappy. Just the other day it reprinted a long piece from this column and gave us full credit. The piece was read in the United States senate by request of Senator Kenyon. We now think the senate is a grand body of men.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

UNMORTGAGED JOYS.

Blossoms of beauty for every eye.
Over each head a roof of sky; Grass for the humblest of feet to tread Till with kindness it seems we are surfaced.

Round about as the songbirds sing For the peasant boy or the sceptered king;
No one can hide from another's sight
The light star that shines at night.

Gold can be gathered and hidden away From the lives of men and the light of day,
But no one can hold for one moment The light.

And claim all the fragrance of clover sweet
And never a man has power to seize As his possession the cooling breeze, No selfish hand can take a fee For sharing the charms of a kindly tree.

Rich is the world in a thousand ways With which the lips of men may praise
Who so great or so strong has grown As to call the light of the sun his own?

And who can take to himself and hide The daisies decking the countryside Or keep for his cold and selfish ear The song of the thrushes singing near?

Never a mortgage grim shall lie On a single acre of God's great sky.
And never shall mortal write a deed On the life that throbs in a poppy seed.

There is much that's here for the daisies' delight
That deludes and mocks at a tyrant's might.
He may build his fences and vault his gold,
But the boys of life he can never hold.

Husky's Quick Retort Gets Him Job as Brakeman

Topoka, Kan.—The Santa Fe railroad has been advertising for brakemen in the Eastern newspapers. A big, tall, raw-boned, homely chap, looking like a prize fighter, called on General Manager Fred C. Fox, who does all the hiring, and applied for a job. "I see you want some brakeman and I would like a job," said the man.

"We don't need any," said Mr. Fox, after sizing up the man.
"Then take that ad out of the Eastern papers and quit fooling us with a demand for more men. I came all the way from Philadelphia to get a job in reply to your ad."

"Well, we do need some brakemen," said Mr. Fox, "but we don't need you."
"Why?" queried the man.
"I don't like your looks."
"So you hire a man on his looks?"
"Yes."

"Who in hell hired you?" demanded the job seeker.
"You'll do," said Mr. Fox. "Report this afternoon."

WHOS WHO
in the Day's News

The life story of Sir Joseph Cook, minister for the navy of the Australian commonwealth and a delegate to the peace conference, reads like a romance.

Cook began life in a coalpit in Staffordshire, England. Undismayed by poverty, he sought to improve his education in every way, and in his spare moments in the pit he acquired a knowledge of shortland. At the age of 25 he emigrated to Australia. He obtained work in a mine near Sydney in 1885, and in 1886, anticipating a more active interest in promoting the welfare of his fellow workmen. A natural leader of men, Cook soon became secretary of the local miners' union.

Soon thereafter he entered the New South Wales parliament as a miner's representative, and within three years he became a minister of the crown.

After several years of state politics he entered the first federal parliament of Australia in 1901. In 1903 he became minister of defense, and four years later was made prime minister of the commonwealth. The honor of knighthood was conferred upon him when he went to England last year with Mr. Hughes to represent Australia in the imperial war cabinet.

railroad management Mr. Dutton and wife have lived on the farm near

Madison, Wednesday, July 9.—Each session of the Wisconsin legislature will have to settle the question of adjustment of the salaries of state employees. At no session of the legislature in 15 years have so many salary changes been made, and the legislature felt that the method of approaching the problem was unsatisfactory. A special legislative committee was proposed to make a full investigation of the salary question and recommend adjustments to the 1921 legislative session. Gov. E. L. Phillips' veto of that plan means that the legislature will have to cope with the individual cases as they come up.

Urgent needs are taken care of by the Perry bill which provides a 20 percent increase in salaries of state employees who receive under $1,200 a year, with the proviso that no increase shall be allowed sufficient to carry such a salary above $1,200. Some employees in institutions receive board and lodging, and in such instances the employing official is allowed to make an adjustment.

The legislature does not believe the constitutional method of salary adjustment is sufficiently flexible to meet changing conditions. It has adopted constitutional amendments providing that the salary of the governor, which is now $5,000, may be increased by the legislature. A similar amendment has been approved in behalf of the lieutenant governor. The amendment authorizes a session to fix salaries of members in the succeeding session. Legislators now receive $300 for the term. In a special measure provision is made for increasing the pay of the chief clerk of the senate and assembly from $1,000 to $1,500 for the sessions, and of the sergeants-at-arms from $800 to $1,200.

Adopts Six Orphans. Regrets He Has No More Rooms

Providence, R. I.—The appeal of Colonel H. Anthony Dyer, "Who will adopt an orphan," has been answered by Leo P. Myers, well known in sports circles, who has adopted six orphans. They are being tenderly cared for by Mrs. Myers, who told Colonel Dyer who wished her house was large enough to accommodate more. Colonel Dyer's appeal was answered by a number of wealthy East side residents, who are said to have made arrangements to care for one of more orphans in one of the many institutions.

"I wish there were more men and women like Leo Myers and his wife, and we would be assured of good homes for a number of unfortunate children who badly need homes," said Colonel Dyer.

"The adoption of six children by Myers will result in their prosperous men taking children to their homes, in the opinion of social workers."

"It keeps me busy buying for the children, but I enjoy it," is Myers' comment.

Leo P. Myers was a political leader of prominence in Philadelphia before coming to this city several years ago.

Nitti to Rush Italy Back to Peace Basis

Rome, Wednesday, July 9.—The Italian government intends to maintain order with firmness and without hesitation or weakness, said Francesco Nitti, the premier, speaking before parliament today. He summarized the program of the government by saying that it was planned to hasten the peace negotiations so that peace could be concluded at once, with the upholding of Italian national aspirations.

The rapid transformation from a war to peace footing is to be effected and what was made necessary by the conflict and has become superfluous and, indeed, harmful in peace, will be abolished. "The bitter condition of the people will be alleviated by the government which is aiming to lower prices, without which, he said, it is impossible to guarantee social peace."

Ross Young.

Ross Young, young Giant outfielder who set the National league on fire with his batting for a time and then hit the tobacco, seems to have regained his batting eye again in time to keep up among the leaders. His quick recovery spoiled a chance for the wise birds to say, "I sold you so—another bloomer."

VENEREAL FIGHT HAS FORCE OF LAW

Madison, Wednesday, July 9.—The state of Wisconsin, by official publication today of rules and regulations of the state board of health for the control of venereal diseases, adopted a policy intended to bring all known and suspected cases into a communicable form under close supervision and approved treatment, and to protect others from infection.

Reports of cases are required from physicians and persons having the disease in a dangerous communicable form who refuse to take treatment may be committed to an institution to be treated for the ailment.

These rules have full effect of law. They supplement laws passed by the present legislature for the rigid control of venereal diseases.

AMERICANS TRAINING FOR BIG REGATTA

London.—The American Army crew, headed by Herman L. Rogers, of Yale, is training hard at Greenwich, England, for the Henley Regatta, which will be held at Wokingham, Hampshire, on August 10 and 11.

The present makeup of the American eight is: Lieut. Guy Gale, California, coxswain; Lieut. J. C. Gale, Yale, bow; Captain Royal Pullen, Washington, No. 2; Captain Louis Penny, California, No. 3; Major Paul Withington, Harvard, No. 4; Major H. L. Rogers, Yale, No. 5; Lieut. J. C. Gale, Yale, No. 6; and Lieut. Homer S. Brooks, Cornell, No. 8.

The Americans will not be favorites in the race but are expected to give a good account of themselves and are credited with an outside chance for victory.

'SWIM CHANNEL' AGAIN

London.—James Wolfe, of Glasgow, who already has made 21 unsuccessful attempts to swim the English channel, is still confident of success. As soon as he can obtain the necessary Admiralty permit he will try again. He has a new system of training: swimming five miles, walking five miles, cycling five miles and rowing five miles.

MORE CRIME IN THE UNITED KINGDOM

London.—"Criminal statistics from the best barometer of national morality," Sir Robert Arden, one of the famous mental specialist declares. The general increase in crime in the country is the result of slackened moral sense following the war.

"War caused a general exaltation, a great national excitement working on the nervous system. Faculties latest acquired are the first to be lost. The moral sense, because it is acquired late, is the first to come under the influence of great excitement."

"Women have developed kleptomania in a manner utterly undreamed of before the war; juvenile crime has increased 50 percent. I believe that war tends to draw out the worst instead of the best in very many people."

RUMANIA'S QUEEN SOON TO VISIT THE UNITED STATES

Queen Marie of Rumania, said to be the most beautiful and the most beloved member of European royalty, has been spending the last few months in London and Paris, and plans soon to pay a visit to the United States. Queen Marie, herself a tireless worker for the Red Cross during the war, is coming to this country primarily to thank Americans personally for their efforts in behalf of imperilled humanity during the late war, and particularly for the aid they rendered her own stricken country.

The testimony in the Schomers case was that Zunker and Schomers attacked Reehl.

Fitzgerald of Waubesa county, on a similar charge and thrown into jail here on a fugitive warrant when they resisted extradition, Charles and Myron Phillips and Fritz Klein, all of Kellogg, Minn., hoped to get their freedom Tuesday through a writ of habeas corpus. The case here was dismissed because the stolen car witness was ill and conviction was impossible without her. The other side refused to consent to another postponement of the case.

The men are alleged to be members of a gang which has been operating in Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois, and Wisconsin for several years. The brains of the gang is said to be located in Chicago.

Efforts were being made late Monday afternoon to obtain extradition through the Minnesota governor. Three automobiles were stolen here Sunday night.

GIVING GIFTS WITH THE EYES SHUT.
One sometimes wonders if certain people buy gifts with their eyes shut. And one positively knows that many people buy them with their minds shut.

It was invited the other day by the sister of a bride-to-be to help her set out the array of gifts on the day before the wedding. Such a heterogeneous mass of vases, pieces of silver, various patterns, cut glass, silver ornaments, casually selected pictures, etc., I never saw—since the last wedding I went to.

Not one in ten consults the bride's needs.

It was plain that not one in ten had actually tried to find out what would fit in with the bride's tastes and needs.

The bride had chosen a pattern of silver and the members of her family had given her part of a set, but just as she needed. Her sister signed as she laid out what they had given her. "If only these people who have given her sugar spoons and pie knives (she had three of these necessities of life) and meat forks of the patterns they liked best, had asked me what to give," she said. "I could have told them just what she needed to fill out the set in the pattern she's going to use."

And if some of these people who gave vases and cut glass things that she doesn't want, "I added, "had just been willing to put their money into a single piece of silverware, or even a coffee spoon of her pattern, I suppose they just didn't think of it."

They Are Afraid the Exact Cost

"Yes, it's partly that," said the bride's sister, "and partly that they have to give that sort of thing because then we'd know just what the gift cost."

Which does, I suppose, cover the case, and means that the average wedding gift is given simply with the idea of fulfilling a convention, not of giving something that will please and help.

Gift-giving is really a ticklish business, a line art requiring thought and skill and sympathetic imagination. Yet nowhere do fools rush in more confidently than here.

I know a woman who would probably start this article and throw it aside as not pertinent to her because she always shows good taste and thought. That woman is fond of colored note paper and gives everyone she knows boxes of various-colored note paper and correspondence cards.

She Gives Away Quizzes of Personality

Another woman who likes perfumery gives away quarts of her favorite scent every Christmas. Some of her friends and relatives never use perfume, but they have their own favorite scents. Apparently those facts never occur to her.

Gifts that one cannot ignore are not so bad, but, oh, the gifts that one must use or hurt the giver's feelings! Who hasn't suffered from this form of good intentions—and bad intelligence? One hopes as one drugs out the picture that Aunt Ida gave me and hangs it for the occasion of her visit, that one has never given any gifts of the sort. And as one takes the picture down at the end of the visit, one vows a gift that one would never will be guilty again, whatever one's past sins.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Seven years ago I met my brother-in-law's brother. Although he and I were in our early teens we thought we were in love. After the two weeks we spent together he went to his home and I went to mine. We have corresponded ever since.

Last winter he wrote that he wanted to spend his vacation with me this year at some summer resort. We have the place all picked out. I expected my mother to chaperone us, but now she says she doesn't want to. Would it be all right for me to go alone since I know I will do the right thing? I have a young married friend who would like to go, but she cannot afford it. Do you think I should go with her? I have a young married friend who would like to go, but she cannot afford it. Do you think I should go with her? I have a young married friend who would like to go, but she cannot afford it. Do you think I should go with her?

You should not go to the summer resort without a chaperone. People are so eager to talk that they will find something to say even if a girl knows that she is not to go. The convention says that a chaperone is necessary under circumstances like yours, and convention should be respected in this instance.

It would be all right for the two of you to pay the expenses of your married friend and ask her to go along as your chaperone.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Would you advise me to have my eyebrows made narrow? My cousin from New York has come to see me and she has the prettiest eyebrows I have ever seen. They are so arched and perfectly shaped. I would like to have eyebrows like hers. She says she knows how to remove the superfluous hair and she can do it for me. Shall I have it done? (1088) T.

I would not have anything done to my eyebrows if I were you. The hair will come back thicker and coarser and will make the brows ill-shaped. I have seen boys edged with short, bristling hair, and they were anything but attractive.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: What do you think of a young man who takes a girl's ring and does not return it?

My girl friend and I were at a show and her boy friend and another boy were at the same show. They took my ring and gave it to my girl friend's house for a while. Then the boy took me home. On the way he teased to wear my ring. I gave it to him, thinking that he would give it back the next time he came to see me. He has not come to see me and I don't think he will. He has had the ring seven weeks.

What shall I do? Shall I write him a letter and ask him to bring the ring back? Or shall I let him keep it?

Write to the boy and ask him to kindly return the ring. It will not be necessary to suggest the matter, by which he can get it to you. Doubtless he will respect your request and will find a way to get it to you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have a white ribbon hat with black or brown ribbon and an orange flower.

Write to the boy and ask him to kindly return the ring. It will not be necessary to suggest the matter, by which he can get it to you. Doubtless he will respect your request and will find a way to get it to you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Is it proper to tip your hat in a street car?

The etiquette for tipping a hat holds good in the street car as well as on the street.

FRILLY FROCKS ARE REVIVED THIS YEAR

Of course the labor shortage has ceased up to quite an extent, but not sufficiently to satisfy most of the farmers. The returned soldiers are oftentimes not willing to return to the home and plow after their weeks and months of being fated in the city and so it looks as if it will be up to the girls again to help out.

Many colleges will send out units again this year to join the Woman's Land Army and help the destitute farmers. This is a very neat costume for the girl who has decided on the "back to nature" course for her summer vacation. It is a well-tailored khaki suit, most smartly cut. The neckers are cut somewhat like riding breeches and the blouse is like a belt and apron. The 10th farmette wears woolen hose of hunter green with this outfit and low-heeled, comfortable brown oxfords. A fabric hat to match the suit completes this roomy and practical working garb.

has bereft of reason. For the time, at all events, I was a gibbering madman. Certainly, there was to be no sleep for me that night! But, in the full tide of my frenzy, I suddenly noticed something that brought me up sharp. Out beyond the doorway it was growing light. It was only a dim tremulous suffusion of it, indeed, but it was real daylight—cooling in from somewhere or other—the blessed, blessed, daylight! God be praised!

CHAPTER VIII.

In Which I Understand the Feelings of a Ghost.

So, I surmised, I had been underground a whole day and two nights, and this was the morning of the second day after Calypso's disappearance. What had been happening to her all this time! My flesh crept at the thought, and, with that daylight stealing in like a living presence, and the sound and breath of the sea, my anguish returned a hundredfold.

As I stood on the little rocky platform outside the door through which I had burned my way, and looked down into the glimmering chasm beneath, and heard the fresh voice of the sea huskily rumbling and reverberating about hidden grottoes and channels, all that Calypso went to me came back with the keenness of a sword through my heart. Ah! there was my treasure—as I had known when my eyes first beheld her—compared with which that gold and silver in there, whose gleam had made me momentarily distraught, was but so much dust and ashes. Ardently as I had sought it, what was it compared to one glance of her eyes? What if in the same hour, I had lost my true treasure, and found the false? At the thought, that glittering heap became abhorrent to me, and, without looking back, I sought for some way by which I could descend.

As my eyes grew accustomed to the dim light, I saw that there were some shallow steps cut diagonally in the rock, and down these I had soon made my way, to find myself in a roomy corridor, so much like that in which I had seen Calypso standing in the moonlight, that, for a moment, I dreamed it was the same, and started to run down it, thinking, indeed, that my troubles were over—that in another moment I would emerge through that enchanted door and face the sea.

But alas! Instead of a broad shining doorway, and open arms of freedom widespread for me to leap into, I came at last to a mere long narrow slit—through which I could gaze as a man gazes through a prison window at the sky.

The entrance had once been wide and free, but a mass of rock had fallen from above and blocked it up, leaving only a long crack through which the tides passed to and fro.

I was still in my trap; it seemed more terrible than ever, now that I could see freedom so close, her very voice calling to me, singing the morning song of the sea. But in the caverns behind me, I heard another mocking song, and I felt a cold breath on my cheek, for death stood by my side again.

"The treasure!" he whispered, "I need you to guard that. The treasure you have risked all to win—the treasure for which you have lost—your

The illusion seemed so real to me that I cried aloud "I will not die! I will not die!"—cried it so loud, that anyone in a passing boat might have heard me, and shuddered, wondering what poor ghost it was wallowing among the rocks.

But the fright had done me good, and I nerved myself for another effort. If only I could wriggle past that contraction in the middle, I should be safe. And if I stuck fast midway! But the more I measured the width with my eye, the less the narrowing seemed to be. To be so slightly perceptible, it could hardly be enough to make much difference. Caution whispered that it might be enough to make the difference between life and death. But already my choice of those two august alternatives was so limited as hardly to be called a choice. On the one hand, I could worm my way back through the caves and tunnels through which I had passed, and try my luck again at the other end.

"With half a dozen matches!" sneered a voice that sounded like Tolbin—"Precisely!" . . . and the horror of it was more than I dared face again anyway. So there was nothing for it but this aperture, hardly wider than one of those deep stone slits that stood for windows in a Norman castle. It was my last chance, and I meant to take it like a man.

I stood for a moment nerving myself and taking deep breaths, as though I expected to take but few more. Then, my left arm extended, I entered sideways, and began to edge myself along. It was easy enough for a yard or two, after which it was plain that it was beginning to narrow. Very slightly indeed, but still a little. However, I could still go on, and I could still go back. I went on—more slowly it is true, yet still I progressed. But the rock was perceptibly closer to me. I had to struggle harder. It was beginning to hug me—very gently—but it was beginning.

I paused to take breath. I could not turn my head to look back, but I judged that I had come over a third of the way. I was coming up to the waist that I had feared, but I could still go on—very slowly, scarce more than an inch at every effort; yet every inch counted, and I had lots of time. My feet and head were free—which was the main thing. Another good push or two, and I should be at the waist—should know my fate.

I gave the good push or two, and suddenly the arms of the rock were around me. Tight and close, this time they hugged me. They held me fast, like a rude lover, and would not let me go. My knees and feet were fast, and the walls on each side pressed my cheeks. My head too was fast. I could not move an inch forward—and it was too late to go back!

Panic swept over me. I felt that my hair must be turning white. Presently I ceased to struggle. But the rocks held me in their giant embrace. There was no need for me to do anything. I could go on resting there—it was very comfortable—till—

And then I felt something touching my feet, running away and then, touching them again. O God! It was the incoming tide! It would—And then I prepared myself to die. I suppose I was light-headed, with the strain and the lack of food, for, after the first panic, I found myself dreamily, almost luxuriously, making pictures of how brave men had died in the past—brave women too. I fancied myself in one and another situation. But the picture that persisted was that of the Conqueror during the French revolution.

Then the picture vanished, as I felt the swirl of the tide round my ankles. It would soon be up to my knees—It was up to my knees—it was creeping past them—and it was making that hollow song in the caves behind me that had seemed so kind to me that very morning, the song it had made to Calypso . . . that far-off night under the moon.

I turned my eyes over the sea—I could move them, at all events; how gloriously it was shining out there! And here was I, helpless, with arms extended, as one crucified. I closed my eyes in anguish, and let my body relax; perhaps I dozed, or perhaps I fainted—but, suddenly, what was that that aroused me, summoned me back to life? (It seemed a short, sharp sound of firing!) I opened my eyes and looked out to sea, and then I gave a great cry:

"Calypso! Calypso!" I cried. "Calypso!" and it seemed as though a giant's strength were in me—that I could rend the rocks apart. I made a mighty effort, and, whether or not my relaxing had made a readjustment of my position, I found that for some reason I could move forward again, and, with one desperate wriggle, I had my head through the narrow space. To wrench my shoulders and legs after it was comparatively easy, and, in a moment, I was safe on the outer side, where, as I had surmised, the aperture did widen out again. Within a few moments, I was on the edge of the sea, had dived, and was swimming madly toward—

But let me tell what I had seen, as

THIN, NERVOUS PEOPLE NEED BITRO-PHOSPHATE

What It Is and How It Increases Weight, Strength and Nerve Force In Many Instances

SHOULD BE PRESCRIBED BY EVERY DOCTOR AND USED IN EVERY HOSPITAL

Says Editor of "Physicians' Who's Who."

Take plain bitro-phosphate the advice of these physicians to thin, delicate, nervous people who lack vim, energy and nerve force, and there is no ample proof of the efficacy of this preparation to warrant the recommendation. Moreover, if we judge from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are often due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the "organic phosphate," known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by Smith Drug Co. of Janesville, and most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with

I had seen, close in shore, a two-masted schooner under full sail sweeping by, as if pursued, and three negroes kneeling on deck, with leveled rifles. As I looked, a shot rang out from my right, where I could not see, and one of the negroes rolled over. Another shot, and the negro next him fell sprawling with his arms over the bulwark.

At that moment, two other negroes emerged from the cabin hatchway, half dragging and half carrying a woman. She was struggling bravely, but in vain. The negroes—evidently acting under orders of a white man, who stood over them with a revolver—were dragging her toward the main mast. Her head was bare, her hair in disorder, and one shoulder from which her dress had been torn in the struggle, gleamed white in the sunlight. Yet her eyes were flashing splendid scornful fires at her captors, and her laughter of defiance came ringing to me over the sea. It was then that I had cried "Calypso!" and wrenched myself free.

Dinner Stories

A young lady took down the receiver and discovered that the telephone was in use. "I just put on a man of beans for dinner," she heard one woman inform another. She hung up the receiver and waited. Three things she tried the line, and then, exasperated, she broke into the conversation.

"Madam, I smell your beans burning."

All she heard was an excited "Good-by" and the click of the receiver upon the hook. Then the young lady put in her call.

An old colored man at Jefferson City caught a two-pound catfish and was so well satisfied with his skill as a fisherman that he lay down and took a nap with the fish beside him. Another smoke came along soon after, picked up the fish and left a half-pound one in its place. When the colored man woke up the first thing his eyes caught was the fish, and it took him several seconds to realize what had happened. Then, turning the fish over and scrutinizing it very closely, he exclaimed, "Golly, how dat fish am shwunked!"

It is characteristic of some good-natured men always to agree with those with whom they converse.

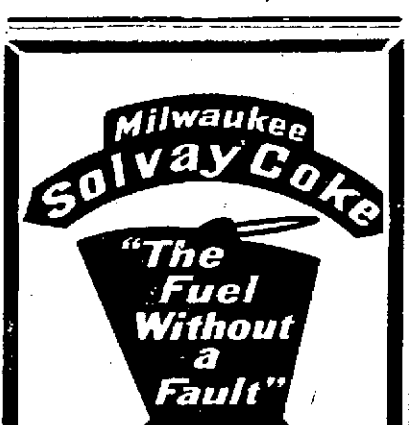

We have a special instance of the value of this policy in the sensible speech of the man who, during some of the Belfast riots, was asked by a mob what his creed was.

He looked at their weapons, their bludgeons, and their dreams, surveyed all carefully, and answered:

"I am of the same opinion as that gentleman over there with the big ax."

Every Dollar Put to Work Now Is a Foundation Stone in Building Our Local Prosperity

THERE'S a tremendous lot of building that must be done in this city and we've got to get at it. We need homes, and apartment buildings, and schools, to say nothing of business buildings, and unless we get them soon our city is going to suffer.

For two years all building has been stopped. Population has increased, rents have jumped. People are paying premium prices to find any kind of a place to live in.

We Need To Get Business Going

IT'S perfectly obvious that such conditions can't be permitted to last very long if this city is to be a desirable place to live and transact business. If we don't remedy it, we'll lose a lot of prosperity that should come to us—and that reacts on every man and woman that lives here.

At the same time, we need to keep business going. The end of the war has brought us an industrial situation that we must face in common. Building is the quickest possible way to stimulate business and tide over this crucial period. And we can build as cheaply now as we will be able to for years to come.

We'll All Profit If We Work Together

WHAT we need is to get our bankers and property owners and contractors together—at once! We must all talk building and plan building. Materials are available; railroads can make deliveries, there is sufficient labor and there's a demand for buildings that is unprecedented. Surely it's a favorable market.

Prices aren't going down soon—there's nothing to gain by delay and much we can lose. Let's get together—and do it AT ONCE.

TWO BIG GAMES OPEN LEAGUE SATURDAY

BOTH WILL BE PLAYED AT SAMSON

Official opening games in the City Baseball league are scheduled to be played at the Samson park Saturday afternoon. The first game beginning promptly at 2 o'clock with the second double header following after. The following immediately after. The double header having decided to drop out of the league because of lack of material, there will be two games, as follows:

FIRST GAME 2:00 P. M.

SECOND GAME
Samson vs. Park Wire

On account of the shade-workers dropping out, the Janesville Machine company nine will be forced into idleness on the opening day. Each team will be idle one Saturday during the time the league is running. Week rather than abandon the league because of the elimination of one team it has been decided to continue, playing two games at the Samson park every Saturday afternoon and none at the fair grounds. A meeting of managers and captains of the five teams will be held at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 tonight at which time the matter of playing one game at the fair grounds and the other at the Samson park each week will be discussed. The idea of playing both games at one park has gained favor and appears to have the most supporters.

In another column on this page is published the complete set of league playing rules as adopted by team representatives during the course of their three meetings. Although they were hastily formed they are thought to be broad enough to cover all the important points and prevent protests which arose two weeks ago when the first games were played. After a consideration of the difficulties arising out of these first games it was decided by officials not to count them as official games and to start the league July 12—this Saturday.

The Season's Schedule
The complete schedule for the season including the games this week, follows:

JULY 12
JULY 19
Park Wire vs. Products Machine Co. vs. Parker Pen
Park Wire vs. Machine Co.
Samson vs. Products
AUGUST 2
Samson vs. Parker Pen Products vs. Machine Co.
Samson vs. Machine Co.

TWIN CITIES HELD TO BE DEAD-HEADS IN A. A.

There is said to be a movement on foot to alter the map of the American association soon after the 1919 season is closed. The Twin Cities—Minneapolis and St. Paul—are regarded as mill stones in the way of the association, and if they can be shunted off to the Western league, an Ohio city and another Indiana city will be given births. Toledo is also said to be on the ragged edge and quite likely to be nudged by some smaller but hustling community, if the financial affairs of the Toledo organization can be satisfactorily cleaned up this season.

President Hickey of the association is said to string along with the map who favor the change in the league's geography. He has refused to even intimate what the plan is that has been partially agreed upon, but he does not hesitate to state the association's great need of a change.

Evansville and Fort Wayne in Indiana, Dayton, Youngstown and Akron in Ohio, and Erie in Pennsylvania, are all being considered. While none of these cities offer the size and population of the cities that may be dropped, they are all live baseball towns and it is believed they could support an A. A. team because of their records as Sunday ball towns. That some change must be made in the present program of the association is conceded by all. Despite the fact that St. Paul is leading the race and has been a contender from the first, attendance there is poor, there apparently being a total absence of any rivalry. Only when Minneapolis and St. Paul hook up, do either of these cities draw creditable attendance. Representatives of the American association have already visited some of the cities that are being considered, and their reports have been quite favorable. It is said: No definite action will be taken until the close of the present season, and then a change will depend upon the ability of the league to get away from Minneapolis and St. Paul.

JACK WOOTEEN OLD FAIRY HEAVEN, IS SIGNED BY MURPHY

Jack Wooteen, old Beloit Fairy crack pitcher and well known in Janesville, where he has hurled on various occasions, was signed last night by Manager Murphy, to be a member of the Janesville pitching staff for the balance of the season. He will be taken to Footville this Sunday, and if he looks good out there he will start in the box, otherwise Lengquist will have. It's a toss-up between the two.

Both are moundmen of no mean ability and if they can't succeed in quieting down the Footville stick-men, then they might as well shove Footville into the American league for the rest of the season.

The game at Footville will start at 2:30 instead of 3 p. m. as announced before. Fans wishing to make the trip may notify Manager Murphy before 6 o'clock Saturday night and he will make arrangements for a round trip by bus.

Any auto owners who wish to help the Janesville team as soon as possible, saying how many men they can take on the Footville trip. Word can be left at the London hotel, Delaney & Langdon, or Hockett's cigar stores. There will be practice for the Janesville again tonight and tomorrow night at the Samson park. Every man is expected to be out.

Curb on Bathers Stops Epidemic of Eyestrain

Cleveland, O.—Fearing an epidemic of eyestrain, Park Director Waite has decreed that bathing suits of the Mack Sennet girl type would not be "worn" on Cleveland beaches. Shoulders covered, and skirts not higher than four inches above the knee are the specifications for Cleveland misses. Stockings may be dispensed with, Waite says, just to show what a liberal guy he is.

SPORT SNAP-SHOTS

BY JACK KEENE.

The advance of women's tennis in America was strikingly illustrated by the high quality of play in the recent national tournament in Philadelphia, but the most significant strides were unquestionably revealed in the mixed doubles event. It has long been claimed that Americans cannot play good mixed doubles, one reason given being that the girls are not able to stand the pace of the American volleying game. In England a far higher standard has prevailed in mixed competition for some years.

There are two kinds of mixed doubles—the informal, week-end house-party type, and the stern, honest-to-goodness tournament play. In the former the men either hit consistently at one another, or put easy ones to the girls, who shriek ecstatically whenever they make what is considered a good return. The latter, however, is relentless and purely business-like.

Since it is one of the cardinal rules of doubles to play so far as possible at the weaker member of the opposing team, it is only natural that the girl should bear the brunt of the defensive work in any high-classed mixed match. And since no chain is stronger than its weakest link, the power of a team usually depends upon the ability of its feminine member.

It is wrong to assume that a first-class male tennis player can score as well by simply slamming the ball at a girl. That may have been true years ago, but it by no means applies to such players as Mrs. George Wightman, Miss Eleanor Goss, Miss Marion Zinderstein, Miss Molla Bjurstedt, or Mrs. S. P. Weaver. These women ask no favors when they enter a mixed doubles tournament. They stand up close to the net and volley the hardest drives, and even when they are forced out of position to keep court they are quite capable of responding with deep lobs that have practically an offensive value. Moreover, they do not approve of poaching by their men partners. Certain shots are necessarily taken by the better volleyer, or the surer back-hand hitter, even on borrowed territory, and this applies to men's doubles as well as mixed. The deliberate sacrifice of position is rightly resented by a partner of a ability whatever.

A player of the type of William T. Tilden is a poacher by instinct, and he flashes so many startling shots at crucial moments that his ranging propensities are readily forgiven. He has made a practice of playing men's doubles with very youthful partners, whom he can coach and command whenever necessary, and the system has proved remarkably successful. But it is astonishing how many mixed teams have proved winning combinations with practically a balance of power, good teamwork, mutual understanding, and an intelligent grasp of court tactics. Such a team is that of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Wightman, where there is no real weak spot and where the woman knows as much tennis as almost any man in the game.

THIRTY CENTS PER GALLON!

CONTRARY to an impression that exists among many Janesville motorists, the 27c grade of Wadhams True Gasoline is not the highest grade of gasoline obtainable in Janesville.

Wadhams 27c gasoline is the best obtainable at the price. It is an honestly-made True Gasoline and has earned high favor among a large proportion of local motorists. But that is not the point. There is only one BEST gasoline and that is

Wadhams 30* Cents

There should be no half-way measures, regarding gasoline. There is only one grade that is best for your car, best for your purse, best when you check up on every angle of motoring economy. You should not be content with any gasoline but the best.

Wadhams 27c grade of gasoline has attained a most satisfactory sale in Janesville—but Wadhams cannot be content with this "good-enough" state of affairs. Wadhams has preached the gospel and fought the battle for honest, straight-run True Gasoline for years, and its every claim has been based on this 30c grade. It is the quality that has been accepted whenever it has been introduced as the very best on the market. The three cents difference in cost is mighty good economy.

No matter how well satisfied you are with Wadhams 27c gasoline, get Wadhams True Gasoline—30c per gallon.

THE WISHING PLANE

The next morning it was raining, minute that Booh would attempt to bite one of the suspicious looking things on the leg and break his teeth. Now about the armor. The children could see in a minute that it was built up to cover a man from head to foot. The king asked one of his servants to climb into one of the suits so that the children could better understand how they were built and how they fitted.

When the attendant finally got the whole suit on, the children could see nothing of him. His head was covered by a huge hood. The hood opened and closed in front just like the jaws of a steel trap. The head piece fastened onto a coat of steel that covered the man's back and front and ran down to his hips. There were sleeves in it, too, which were built so that they moved in any direction when the man moved his arms. The legs were covered by what looked just like pants made out of the same metal, with joints at the knee. These pants were made so that they fitted to the bottom of the coat part. Two heavy pieces of metal were attached to the bottoms of the legs to lay on top of the feet and protect them. The suit was so heavy that the man could hardly move in it, and they clanked when he stepped about.

"The knights must have been awfully strong," said Jack.

"They were," said the king. "Only the strongest and bravest men in the country were made knights. They did nothing but protect the king and the country from robbers and bands of invaders."

When the attendant picked up one of the great swords leaning against the wall, the children were amazed at its size. It was almost as tall as the man himself. The blade was heavy and sharp on both edges.

Jack tried to lift the sword himself, and it was all he could do to get it off the floor. He remembered that he had been able to march up and down the street in Make-Believe Town with the sword his grandfather had used in the civil war.

these they would have been startled. The armor itself resembled a man, and a whole row of the suits, standing upright along the wall, looked very warlike. Booh, of course, didn't know what to expect, and when he saw what looked like strangers to him, he got up a howl. Jack was afraid for a

ORANGE-CRUSH

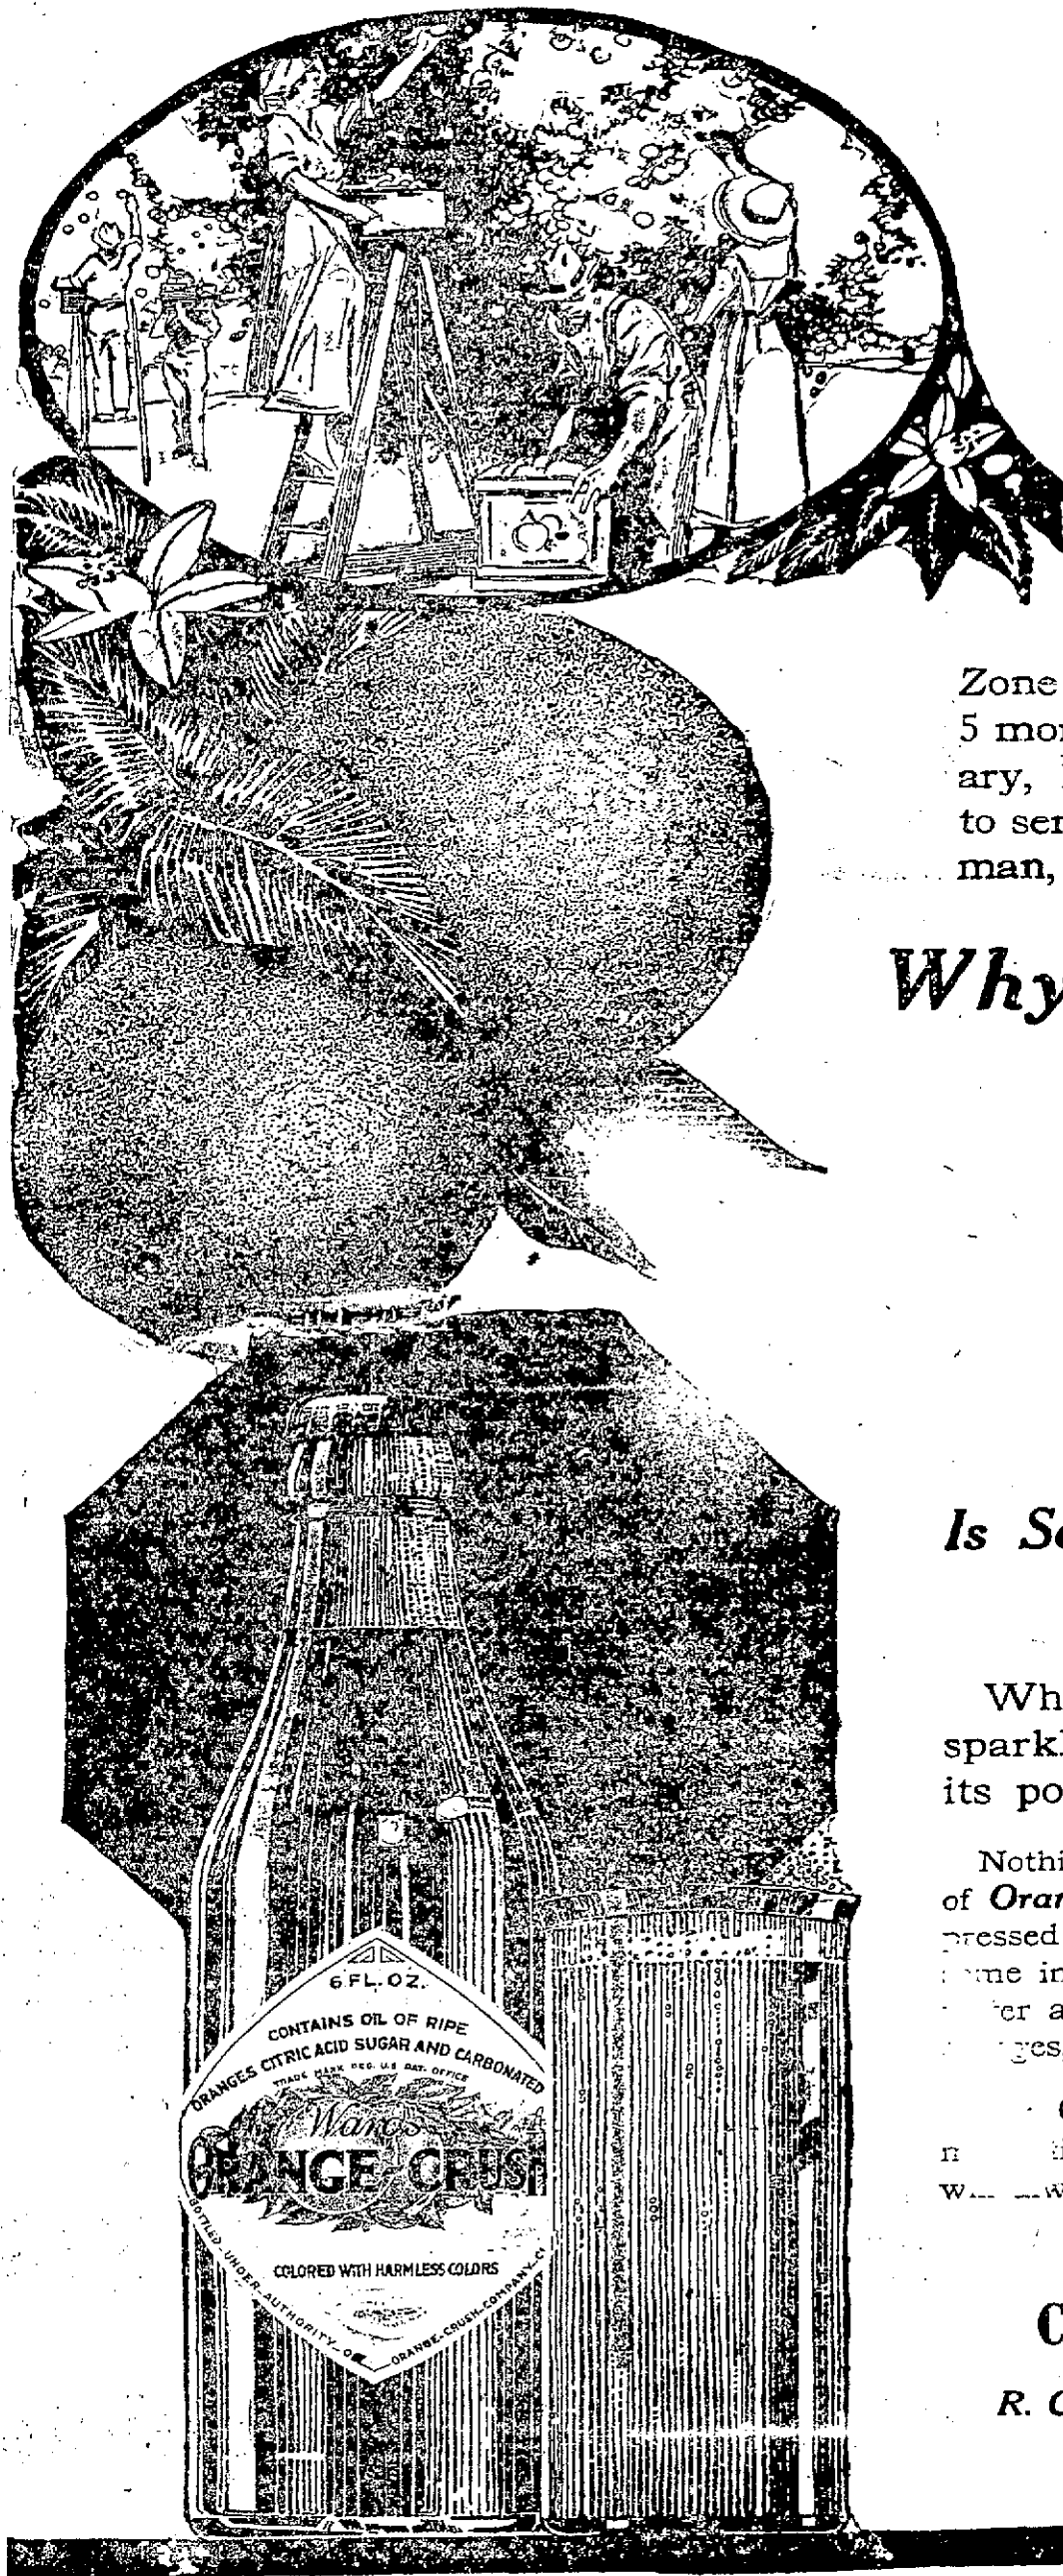

Is So Delightfully — So Surprisingly — Delicious!

When you have sipped Orange-Crush, sparkling, golden, ice-cold, you'll understand its popularity.

Nothing is more refreshing than a sparkling glass of Orange-Crush because it is made from the fruit oil pressed from fresh, ripe oranges and such other wholesome ingredients as pure granulated sugar, carbonated water and citric acid, which is a natural acid found in oranges, lemons and grapefruit.

Orange-Crush to-day. Drink it every day — 3 times a day. Order a case for your home — it will always delight.

Even Rat Catching Goes Higher; Now Costs $1,250

London.—There seems to be no limit to the increased cost of things in London these hectic days of peace. The latest rise is in rat catching. The salary of $1,250 a year offered by the Kent county council for an official rat catcher marks a distinct rise, as the same official was employed by the London City council the year before the war for $240. The latter figure, however, compared unfavorably with the $500 a year paid in the eighteenth century to the "Rat Catcher to His Majesty," who was also provided with a scarlet uniform, brodered with yellow figures of destroying wheat sheaves.

SEVEN DIE IN RAIN STORM IN DUBUQUE

Dubuque, Ia., July 10.—With seven dead, one fatally injured, property damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars where streets and bridges were washed out in Wednesday's storm, Dubuque is this morning recovering from the most severe rain and flood in her history. Search is being made today for the bodies of two victims, Mrs. George Kennelicker and her three-year-old niece, 10-year-old Brose, who were swept to their deaths in the torrent that emptied into the Bee branch sewer. It is thought the bodies were carried into the river a mile away.

The bodies of the other five victims were recovered shortly after the storm subsided. They are Mrs. Chris Wagner and her two children, Blanche and Walter, 10 and 8 years old, of East Dubuque, Ill.; Sarah Sezen, aged 4, and Herbert Rickett, aged 4.

about by a cleverly concealed electric fan. Little Angela, aged ten and a half, rises nobly to the occasion and assures her mother that she will go and bring her father home. Follow several feet of film showing little Angela braving the storm outside, searching the dark streets of the big city, passing rickshaws of men with candy on their breath, and finally discovering her bear-eyed, sodden father, just as he is about to fall off the wharf into the river, clutching a candy carton firmly in one hand.

Leads Him Home.
"Oh, father," says little Angela, "you promised us you would stop eating candy." And, leading him gently by the hand, Angela guides her father through a thousand or more feet of film which ends with his miraculous reform and the signing of the candy prohibition pledge.

Besides the vivid pictures candy conjures for the imagination—butter-milk, weak beer, and even cologne are pale and inconspicuous. American breweries are now doing a large business. According to the testimony of an American who has just returned from China, every attempt is being made to popularize American beer and light wines in that country, and so far the results are so successful that many more American brewers are talking of moving their plants to the Orient. Under these circumstances, it is quite comprehensible why so many American business men are suddenly evincing a tremendous interest in China.
